SUNSET.

BY GYPSY WILDE.

Talk of Italian sunsets
As beautiful and grand;
Are they more in their regal glory,
Than those of our own fair land?

As I watch the sinking glory
That crowns the royal head
Of the god of day, as he falls to sleep
On his billowy, golden bed;

Clouds of Heaven's crimson
Scattered by purple folds;
Isles of shadby silver, floating
O'er a sea of liquid gold;

How my soul drinks in the splendor
Of the proudly dying one;
Surely 'tis a glimmering vision
Of the land beyond the sun.

And looking out from my window
Over the hills in the west,
I wish that I—in the eve of life's day—
Might sink as grandly to rest.

If we could reach that beauteous sea
With its shining, reefy strand,
And in its fairy shallops
Cross to the Spirit-land;

If only that sunset of splendor
Would grant a tiny crown
To weary ones, 't would help to raise
The cross that bears us down.

Colfax on Temperance.

At a recent session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of California a public meeting was held, at which Vice President Colfax was present and made a brief address. After alluding to his connection with the Sons of Temperance in times past, and expressing his warm sympathy in heart and soul with the temperance movement, he said:

"My mind goes back at this moment, as I stand before you, to the time when I first entered on the pathway of temperance. It was not in the heat of a great excitement; it was not by the persuasive appeal of some man whose eloquent words entranced my heart and convinced my judgment; but it was just as I was stepping upon the threshold of manhood a quarter of a century in the past. In the Western region where I went in my boyhood days, in common with all, I had from time to time imbibed the intoxicating bowl, not, perhaps, as some people say, 'to be worse for it,' but as a gradual, habitual, moderate drinker; never intoxicated that I remember of, yet sometimes feeling the exhilarating effects of it. Just as I was entering upon my manhood, a young man who started as I did to make his way in life, and carve out his own pathway, of a warm, social and generous disposition, who loved his companions, with a fervor of heart and an abandon that you see so often in those addicted to strong drink, but who had gone faster and further in the road in which I was traveling than I had, sent for me to come to his bedside. I stood by his bedside, and could see his soul tearing itself away from his body in the convulsive agonies of delirium tremens, while he was cursing his soul, and asking the Creator to damn him to all eternity. I stood by that memorable death-bed, and I resolved there, with no one but my Creator for witness, that, God help me, while I lived I would not taste or handle the unclean thing. How many times I have rejoiced in public as well as in private life, that I made that resolution, in the early years of my manhood. I think it is a great and noble privilege to be enrolled among those who, with clear heads and sober brains, perform the duties that fall to their lot in life to perform. You have your ample reward for this investment in health; you have it in the thrill of the blood in your veins, that the inebriate never feels even in the exhilaration of his moments of intoxication; you have it in the consciousness and the conviction that you are living, in that respect at least, as our Creator intended you should live, in seeking to be elevated toward him in whose image you are made, and not to be degraded to the image of the brute. You have emancipated yourselves from the thralldom of this practice that first is like threads of silk that infant hands can snap, but which stiffen with older manhood as if they were gyves of iron upon them.—I rejoice at every poor pilgrim on the same journey with ourselves, traveling to the same tomb, who is saved from the inevitable fate that awaits the man who indulges in the habitual use of intoxicating liquors. There is no standstill in this vice; it is as certain to grow upon him who yields to it as any other bad habit or vice that afflicts the human frame. The person addicted to it will become more and more completely its servant and slave; and if you would be supreme in your manhood and womanhood, if you would be your own master, then you must abjure the thralldom of the intoxicating cup. The slavery that has been weeded from this country affected only the life of the person; but the slavery of the intoxicating bowl affects not only the life of the person, but, in many cases, the undying soul that lives thro' all eternity.

"This is not the only vice; but I speak of it because it is so universal in its effects, so demoralizing, so degrading, and sometimes so sad in its results. I know this world is full of vices; but there are few of them that send the man home at midnight to treat with indignity, and brutal insult, and with violent force, the wife to whom he has pledged the love and affection of his life. There are few vices that make children sometimes worse than if they were orphans.—There are few vices that fill the jails and asylums as this one deplorable vice of this and every other land. I have sometimes thought if this world of ours could be freed from it, could be diverted from it; and with clear head and sober brain, and with intellect not stupefied by the fumes of alcohol, every one of us could perform our duties in our sphere of life, whatever it might be, what a paradise would be made of this world of ours! It would not look like the same world, but would look like some new Eden. Instead of seeing men dragged down, we would see them elevated, and performing their circle of duties far more usefully to the community and the country than now.

"I bid you God-speed in all your labors in the spirit of persuasion, of brotherly love, to better the condition of your fellow-men, and to rescue them as brands from the burning, placing their feet upon that rock of sobriety and safety, that they may rejoice all the remaining years of their life. I bid you God-speed and good-speed in all these fields of action of your fraternity, and all organizations of a similar character.

"The gentleman then proceeded to say that temperance men had to encounter opposition; and it was even said to be unpopular to be a total abstinence man. He, however, had not realized that. The popularity which good men should seek was the popularity that told them in their own hearts that they might be understood, however they might be assailed, that they were endeavoring to do good to their fellow-man, and won for them the smile of Him whose smile was sunshine, and was worth more than all the applause of the whole world."

The Company We Keep.

That a "man is known by the company he keeps" is a trite phrase enough; it is so true that it has become trueism; and half its force is lost because of its familiarity. Most men are not only known by the company they keep, but they become part of that company. The mind easily receives impressions; and it is difficult to be with the silly and foolish also.

Men choose their companions from different motives, and generally, of course, with different results. It is better to be the companion of few than of many, and to follow the advice given by Thackery in his Miscellanies, to associate with those who are really more clever, wiser, or better placed than one's self. That it is better to reverence than despise or look down on your friend. A little man will only choose smaller men than himself—we are, of course, speaking mentally.

Perhaps women suffer even more than men from making a bad choice of companions, but both are very severely and dangerously hurt by them. St. Augustine has a good simile with regard to bad company by which we may all profit. "Bad company," he wrote, "is like a nail driven into a post, which, after the first or second blow, may be drawn out with very little difficulty, but, being driven once up to the head, the pincers can not take hold to draw it out, which can only be done by the destruction of the wood."

Of course it is needless to define bad company. We, all of us, men and women, boys and girls, feel instinctively when we have fallen in with dangerous or unworthy associates; if we choose to remain amongst them we are lost. Just so in the high tides, barks of light draught will float over the dangerous Goodwin quicksand; in summer, at low tide, the venturous boys and young people will play cricket thereon; but neither can long remain thereon. The time comes when the sands are covered with but a thin surface of water, and beneath is the shifting, loose, wet earth, more dangerous and treacherous than spring-tide ice; and then it is to touch it is to be drawn in, and to be drawn in is death. So it is with bad company.

Stephen A. Douglass.

HOW HE LOOKED, DRESSED AND ACTED IN HIS YOUTH.

From the Springfield, Illinois, State Register.]

Stephen A. Douglass first came to reside in Springfield, Illinois, some time in April, 1837. He had already served one term in the Legislature, and had then recently been appointed by President Van Buren, Register of the Land Office of that place. At the date above mentioned he was a little, active, wiry fellow about five feet, and weighing not more than 110 pounds.—He had a beardless, boyish face, dark blue lustrous eyes, a short, thick neck, square shoulders, and a large, round bushy head, which seemed much disproportioned to the size of his frame. He dressed plainly and rather slovenly, for his wardrobe was scanty, and finances at a low ebb. Altogether, he presented quite a youthful, and at first view, unprepossessing appearance.—But he was uncommonly quick and vivacious in conversation, and had an exuberant flow of animal spirits, which rendered him a delightful companion. Of a peculiarly social turn, he soon made the acquaintance and won the heart of every citizen of the town; and what is more, like Themistocles of Athens, he knew them all by name.—He attended all the local political gatherings, was present at all the village frolics, and took part in all manly pastimes of the day. He is said to have been especially fond of wrestling, and could throw a man of twice his weight. He paid assiduous court to the elderly dames, and danced with their young and interesting daughters; but in treading the mazy meshes of Terpsichore he never was considered an expert.

He went about with his pockets crammed with newspapers, pamphlets and other political documents, and when called on for a speech was ever ready. If an opponent was to be demolished, there was no man so competent to the task; and he always carried the record with him to substantiate whatever charge he made. He was gifted with a rare degree with those peculiar qualities of head and heart which secure to their possessor the ascendency and the leadership in all matters of public concern. Even at that early period of his fortunes, his Democratic supporters considered him a prodigy of political wisdom, consulted him as they would an oracle, and predicted for him a high destiny. But the more aspiring among his Whig acquaintances, being jealous, perhaps, of his rising reputation, ridiculed his pretensions. Mr. Douglas was then just entering, as it were, upon his brilliant and unexampled public career and was himself scarcely conscious of the possession of those amazing powers of intellect which qualified him for acting such a distinguished part in national affairs.

HAVE YOU ENEMIES?—Go straight ahead and mind them not. If they block up your path, walk around them and do your duty regardless of their spite. A man who has no enemies is seldom good for anything. He is made of that kind of material which is so easily worked that every one has a hand in it. A sterling character, one who thinks for himself and speaks what he thinks, is always sure to have enemies. They are as necessary to him as fresh air; they keep him alive and active. A celebrated character who was surrounded by enemies used to remark: They are sparks which if not fanned, will go out themselves.—Have courage, and you will live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute, you do as they desire, and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellow talk, there will be a re-action if you perform you duty, and the hundreds who were once alienated from you will flock to you and acknowledge their error.

☞ A young woman at St. Clair, Michigan, who had been suffering from nausea and headache, took vermifuge to relieve herself, and the cause of her sickness appeared in the shape of a small frog about three inches in length and half an inch in breadth. The reptile was of a dark color, without eyes, and is supposed to have been swallowed while a tadpole, at a spring, some months previous.

☞ A frontier paper, giving an account of an Indian fight, heads the article: "Conversion and Death of Twelve More Heathens! Glory to God and our Cavalry!"

In Washington, recently, a serious disturbance occurred at a colored church where a revival was in progress, and the officers of the police who attempted to quell the riot were resisted and roughly handled.

An Irishman, writing from the West to a friend, remarked: "Pork is so plenty here that every third man you meet is a hog."

Girls are not considered of enough importance in China to be named, so that they are simply numbered as daughter 1, daughter 2, etc. The first work of the missionary teachers is to rig 'em out with names.

Everything was lately in readiness for the marriage of a Cairo lady, but the groom came not. After hours of waiting, a dispatch was received which read: "Have to wait till next week, my wife has overhauled me."

Boston has a philanthropist who visits the prisons. Said he to philosopher: "Most of your friends think your sentence was excessive; nothing like it was ever known." "Yes, I suppose so," was the prisoner's reply;—"but then, everything has gone up since the war."

A farmer going to get his grist ground at a mill, borrowed a bag of one of his neighbors. The poor man was knocked into the water-wheel, and the bag went with him. He was drowned; and when the melancholy news was brought to his wife, she exclaimed, "My gracious! what a fuss there'll be about that bag!"

Mark Twain understands newspaper responsibilities. He says: "Mr. Greeley is going to lecture on the Byron scandal. We have no authority for making this statement, but then it makes an interesting item of a news, and the inexorable business of a newspaper is to collect interesting news."

A reporter of the New York Telegram recently had an interview with the Chinese giant, and asked him what his fellow-citizens of the Celestial Empire thought of female suffrage. The reply was: "Wuttiquitinuskichi Yawatuwchowschichi yohnottforjoin." This is the opinion of all intelligent people.

An Irish juror having applied to the judge to be excused from serving on account of deafness, the judge said: "Could you hear my charge to the jury, sir?" "Yes; I heard your Honor's charge," said Paddy, "but I could not make any sense out of it." He was let off.

Samuel Wesley visited one of his parishioners as he was upon his dying bed—a man who had never missed going to church in forty years. "Thos. where do you think your soul will go?" "Soul! Soul," said Thomas. "Yes, sir," said Mr. Wesley; "do you know what your soul is?" "Ay, surely," said Thomas; "why it's a little bone in the back that lives longer than the body."

A young man, accompanied by his lady love, stopped at a St. Louis boarding-house for dinner, the other day. Never having seen fish-balls, he handed one to his lady, under the impression that it was a doughnut. After breaking his own open, he carefully examined it, then smelt of it, and with a sepulchral voice said: "Matilda, don't eat that doughnut; there is something dead in this!"

"My competitor," writes a political editor, "has told you of the services he rendered his country in the late war. Let me tell you that I, too, acted a humble part in that memorable contest. When the toesin of war summoned the loyal masses to rally to the defense of the national flag, I fellow-citizens, animated by that patriotic spirit which glows in every American bosom, hired a substitute, and the bones of that man now lie bleaching on the banks of the Rappahannock."

Twenty expert clerks from the Treasury Department, at Washington, have been detailed to count the gold coin in the Sub-Treasury at New York where the sum of ninety millions of dollars of the precious coin has accumulated. These men commenced their labors early on the morning of the 15th, and it is supposed they might get through with the count in about three or four days.

Alderman Hubert, of Pittsburg, when about to perform a marriage ceremony last week, was stopped by the mother of the bridegroom, she declaring that the bride already had a husband. The latter had admitted the fact but supposed it would be all right, as she hadn't lived with her husband for two years.

At a railway station an old lady said to a very pompous looking gentleman, who was talking about steam communication, "Pray, sir, what is steam?" "Steam, ma'am, is—ah!—steam is steam." "I know that chap couldn't tell you," said a rough looking fellow, standing by; "but steam is a bucket of water in a tremendous perspiration."

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Dec. 1, 1869

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

The "Globe" has the largest number of cadets of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

☞Congress will commence next Monday, the 6th inst. It is not expected that much will be done until after the holidays.

☞The law-makers are beginning to buzz about Harrisburg, securing lodging for the winter, and looking after any little side arrangements that may happen to turn up.

☞The recent "first law officer" of the Commonwealth, would like to be appointed "first law-officer" of the nation, in case Attorney General Hoar is appointed to the vacant seat on the Supreme Bench. It would be political suicide.

☞President Grant being determined that his message shall not be published before it has been read to Congress, will not have it printed as is customary, but will send it to that body in manuscript. It is said that it will be very short.

☞O'Dinovan Rossa, a Fenian leader, now in prison for treason against the English government, has just been elected to Parliament from Tipperary Ireland. It now remains to be seen whether he will be allowed to take his seat in that body.

☞The Philadelphia Post says that petitions are being prepared for general circulation, praying that the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, at the next meeting of the General Assembly, will re-enact the Ten Commandments. Such a bill will be vetoed unless they are materially amended.

☞Gen. Wm. H. Irwin, of Beaver county, who was so shamefully treated by the Legislature last winter, by being sold out, after a majority of that body was pledged to his re-election, is again a candidate for State Treasurer, with very flattering prospects of success.

THE cost of the Suez Canal up to June last was $55,000,000. The tolls and charges fixed at present seem amounting for an ordinary sized Indiaman to $2,300 in gold, but the rates will doubtless be lowered if they are found to be so high as to prevent its general use. The rates will be the same for vessels of all nations.

☞Pere Hyacinthe the French Catholic Priest, is regarded as a second Martin Luther. He still announces himself a good Catholic, but will not submit to all the dogmas of that Church. He is an independent thinker and says that church religion should be free, and that as there is but one goal to be reached all churches should work in harmony.

Dr. Worthington, ex-Speaker of the Senate, and at present Surveyor at the Port, at Philadelphia, has been appointed Secretary to the Board of Charity Commissions, at a salary of $3,000 per annum. The Commissioners get no pay for their services; with them it is a labor of love, and we hope that their work will not be "love's labor lost."

MRS. GEN. GAINS, who by a recent decision of the Supreme Court owns about one half of New Orleans, and is said to be the richest woman in the United States, is in Washington. She is pretty well advanced in years, but full of energy and pluck. Mrs. G. complains of constant annoyance from the squatters on her property, and threatens to sue many of them for damages. It is a great bore to be rich.

☞The Speakership of the House is now occupying the attention of the members of the Legislature. Strang and Johnson are both confident of success. Reinachel, of Lancaster, is also a candidate, but cannot show much strength. He expects to come in on the "home stretch" (i e) as a compromise between Strang and Johnson.—Webb of Bradford, who was mentioned as a candidate, declines it is said, in favor of Strang.

RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENT.—There is much talk in Washington and in financial cities, about the resumption of specie payment, and the desired end may be accomplished in about a year from this time, and possibly sooner. It is well known that a number of our leading statesmen favor as early a return to a specie basis as possible. Senator Sumner, Attorney General Hoar and a number of others have written their opinions of it, and on the assembling of Congress, a decided step may be taken in that direction. Secretary Boutwell has certainly handled the national finances with consummate ability, and we may expect to learn his opinions in an official shape in his report. We are entirely willing that the matter of resumption should be left entirely in his hands, for he undoubtedly understands the situation and condition of our finances better than any other man in the country. Without venturing to express our opinion, we await the developments the future may bring to light.

San Domingo.

The love of acquisition, with the American people, seems to have become an epidemic. Mr. Seward's pet idea of annexation seems to have been caught up in the "tidal wave," and is being carried along at such a rapid rate that if all the pet schemes of some of our statesmen are carried out, we will soon be in possession of the Islands of Cuba and San Domingo, as well as Canada and, no doubt, Mr. Seward, in his visit to Mexico, has an eye to that country also. The annexation of these, would probably increase our wealth as well as our strength, and in many other ways enure to our benefit, but have we not territory enough already, if it was populated and the land improved, as in time it no doubt will be.

But it was of San Domingo that we started out more particularly to write about, as it is authoritatively stated that negotiations are now pending for the purchase and annexation of that Island.

The New York Tribune of last Friday, says, that it is probable that yesterday the U. S. steamer, Albany, having on board Messrs. Cole, Babcock, and other Commissioners, arrived at some port on the Island of San Domingo, and that the negotiations tending to the annexation of the Island or the occupancy of the Bay of Samana were begun. At least, as we learn from trustworthy authority, that was the plan of the Government as laid down.

From other good authority we learn that the U. S. steamer Frolic, flagship of Port Admiral S. H. Stringham, now lying off Wall st. Ferry, which has been reported under sealed orders for Aspinwall, will sail in a day or two for St. Domingo, having on board Vice-Admiral D. D. Porter, U. S. N., and Gens. McCook and Burnside.

The entire Island can be purchased for $2,000,000. President Baez, it is said, is ready to open negotiations as soon as he is assurred that Congress will make the necessary appropriation. The people of San Domingo oppose the dismemberment of the republic but favor annexation, so it alone remains for Congress to say whether or not we shall add San Domingo to our possessions.

OUR usually quiet neighbor of the Guerrilla Organ bursted his "wenomous" bag last week and threw his bill in every direction. He begins to see himself as others see him, hired for a price to try to destroy the Republican party in the county, and it is no wonder that he begins to feel dissatisfied with himself and all mankind outside of the Guerrilla clan. He wants it understood distinctly that our assertion that he was removed by the County Commissioners as their counsel was a lie, and asks us to say to our readers that he resigned, and that Mr. Musser was appointed with his (Cremer's) entire approbation. Well, we give our readers Mr. Cremer's assertion, hoping, for the credit of the majority of the Board, that his approbation was not asked for or necessary in the case. Mr. Cummins and Mr. Wright were elected by the Republican party, by the party Mr. Cremer is now trying to injure, and it was their duty to remove Mr. Cremer and not give him an opportunity to resign.—We are not inclined to believe that Mr. Cremer could have remained in office under the majority of the Commissioners—as party men they know their duty and they know how to dispose of guerrillas. Mr. Cremer resigned, that's understood.

"We would respectfully whisper in Dad's ear that the victors and not the vanquished have the right to propose terms, in such cases".—Guerrilla Organ.

"Such cases"—the nomination of Republican candidates—the organization of the party—leaders of the party—the control of the party—who shall and who shall not be nominated, etc., etc. What impudence! Cremer and his guerrilla clan, and the Democracy, victors at the late election, claiming the right to direct and control the organization of the Republican party! The vanquished, the Republicans who were true to their party organization and its nominees, must take back seats hereafter and permit Mr. Cremer and his clan, (after they consult with the Democracy,) to fix up the Republican party for another Democratic victory! Yes, we think we hear every true party Republican answering Mr. Cremer with—"treason must be punished."

THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN.—The Book Committee of this establishment, after a careful investigation lasting over two weeks, has arrived at the following judgment in reference to the alleged losses and frauds connected with the business, to wit: First, That the last exhibit of the agents is a true and reliable statement of the financial responsibility and solvency of the Book Concern. Second, That though the agents have bought paper and other materials through middle men, yet the Concern has not suffered any serious loss by such mode of making purchases. Third, That there has been great mismanagement in the bindery, and that serious losses have occurred therein. Fourth, That the general management of the business, in all matters involving the credit and integrity of the Book Concern, is such as to meet the approval of the Committee, and command the confidence of the community. The report is signed by twelve members of the Committee.

AN IMPORTANT TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.—An important movement against the license system, says the Lancaster Intelligencer of Saturday, is now going on among the Good Templars of this State. Petitions are being circulated by them praying the Legislature to pass a law giving the citizens of each election district the right to decide by ballot whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be allowed therein or not. If a majority of the voters decide against the sale of liquors in any district; then no license to sell such liquors is to issue to any tavern, restaurant or other places therein.—The Good Templars are a secret organization, now extended throughout the State, with many lodges and a membership which can exercise great power when their efforts are concentrated, as they will be in this matter. The Legislature will be flooded with their petitions, and the passage of the proposed law will be strongly urged at the coming session. The lecturers who are employed by the organization are engaged in making stirring appeals in favor of the proposed enactment, which they regard as the stepping-stone to the passage of a gener prohibitory liquor law.

SHIP Canals are now the order of the day. France and Egypt have just completed the Sucz Canal connecting the Mediterranean with the Red Sea, and furnishing a near cut to Asia. Prof Maury and Capt. Dent, have started a theory that the Gulf Stream of the Atlantic Ocean, and a corresponding stream called Kiro Surwo, in the Pacific, form a natural canal or open polar sea connecting the two oceans, which is navigable at all seasons.—President Grant is reported to be warmly in favor of a Ship Canal thro' the Isthmus of Darien, or Panama, and desires the accomplishment of this great work during his Administration. Besides this we have the Pacific Railway, an accomplished fact, and the prospect of an early connection of France and Italy by the Mont Cencis Tunnel. Truly the world moves.—Even the hitherto dormant Asiatics have caught the spirit of enterprise and improvement.

☞In the great Northern uprising of 1854 against the Nebraska Iniquity, it happened that John A. Gurley of Cincinnati, Ohio, was made a Republican candidate for Congress. Now the said Gurley was [or rather had been] a Universalist preacher; so a Democrat of the Methodist persuasion thought he could make a point with a good brother who inclined to Republicanism, by pressing the odium theologicum against the candidate aforesaid. "Do you know," said he, "brother Ringlotub, that this man Gurley don't believe in any hell?" "Is it possible?" was the horrified response; "well (after a pause for reflection), just send him to Washington for a couple of years, and he will be convinced that there is a hell; or, if not, there will have to be one made—that there's no getting on without it."

SEIZURE OF THE SPANISH GUNBOATS.—A dispatch from New York states that the Spanish Gunboats were seized by order the U. S. Government on Wednesday, and are now in the custody of the United States authorities. These boats were to be used against Cuba. The Spanish Minister, at Washington, is said to be very indignant at the seizure, and some threats are made that Spain will consider the action of the United States in the premises, a cause for war, but no real danger is apprehended by our authorities. Still our government is preparing for such a possible contingency—and if Spain declares war, or commits any overt hostile act, the United States will be ready for whatever turns up.

THE SCHOEPPE MURDER CASE.—Gov. Geary has refused to pardon Doctor Schoeppe, of Carlisle, convicted of the murder of Miss Steinnicke by giving her poison, and signed his death warrant, fixing the day of execution on Wednesday, Dec. 22. Adam Titus, another murderer under the sentence of death, also in Cumberland county, is to be executed on the same day.—Dr. Schoeppe maintains his innocence, and a strong appeal was made by his German friends, and by certain medical societies, but all to no purpose.—The Attorney-General, to whom the papers asking for Scoeppe's pardon were submitted, reported against the application, and advised that the law be left to take its course.

Three interesting fossils have recently been found in the township of Seymour, Canada. The first is apparently a petrified human head, which shows the tongue, eyeballs, and muscles of the face, the head having the reddish-brown appearance of an ore of iron. The other relics are the and leg of a young girl, about ten years old, and a section of meat from the side of an ox, showing three ribs.

Two brothers, named Chaffin, are on exhibition at Cincinnati. The oldest, twenty-two years of age 6½ feet high, weighs 230 pounds; the youngest, twenty years old, is 27 inches high, and weighs 25 pounds.

The Florida papers urge the planters to raise sugar and abandon cotton. Sugar and fruit, they say, are the natural product of the State, and much more profitable than cotton.

Coal and Iron--Virginia and West Virginia.

The iron deposits in Virginia and West Virginia are equal to, if not more extensive than, those in Pennsylvania. Along the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad are found inexhaustible deposits of superior iron ore. From Scranton, Va., to the White Sulphur Springs in West Virginia, a distance of 100 miles, there are very large quantities of valuable iron ore. Also along the line of the James River Canal, west of Lynchburg, is found superior iron ore in great abundance. In fact the entire Allegheny range of Mountains in both Virginia and West Virginia, extending 350 miles, from Maryland to Tennessee, are filled with iron ore in quantity and quality equal to the most valuable deposits found in Pennsylvania, the largest quantities being found east of the main Allegheny range of Mountains, and west of the Blue Ridge.

West of this vast area of iron ore deposits is found the Appallachian coal field of West Virginia, which, in extent, is greater than the coal field of Pennsylvania. For the coal field of West Virginia is estimated to contain 15,900 square miles, while that of Pennsylvania is estimated to contain 12,656 square miles. The coal area of of Great Britain is estimated to be 11,859 square miles.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the James River and Kanawha Canal, [when completed to the Ohio river] will pass through the very heart and center of the coal and iron deposits of Virginia and West Virginia.—These improvements will pass thro' the New River Valley and the Great Kanawha Valley to the Ohio River, a distance of 200 miles, cutting at right angles the most extensive deposits of superior cannel, splint, and bituminous coal known in the world. Coal remarkable for its superiority in generating steam, in smelting iron ore, and in making gas, and unsurpassed as a fuel.

Thus in Virginia and West Virginia, and especially along the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, and the line of the James River and Kanawha Canal are to be found in great abundance and of superior quality, two great elements of a nation's wealth—coal and iron.

Not long since Mr. Gladstone, in a speech delivered in the English Parliament, said the commercial prosperity of Great Britain over all other countries was attributable chiefly to her coal deposits and their location near iron ore—that coal and iron in close proximity to each other constituted the substratum of England's commercial prosperity.

The same may be said of Pennsylvania. It is the development of the coal and iron of that State that constitutes the basis of its wealth and power. And what has been done in Pennsylvania may be done in Virginia and West Virginia, and even to a greater degree. For the deposits of coal and iron are more numerous and varied, and more favorably located for a thorough development by means of Virginia's central water line and railway uniting the Great West with the Atlantic seaboard.

Pennsylvania capitalists have already commenced investing in this coal and iron region. In the past few weeks Heister Clymer, W. Firmstone, and others of Pennsylvania have bought very large tracts of iron land in Alleghany County, Va., near both the canal and railroad.

The Story of a Family who Bought a Farm in the West.

On Friday morning there arrived at Detroit, from Wisconsin, a man named Chas. H. Turner, bound from his home near Rochester, N. Y., who with others, is as sad a victim of man's inhuman meanness as one might ever meet with. Last spring, a widow named Stingler, who resided about fifty miles from Rochester, N Y., was beset by a neighbor who had just returned from Wisconsin, to bargain for forty acres of land which he had just purchased one hundred miles west of Milwaukee. He represented the land to be fertile and valuable, on the line of a railroad and near a large village, and that a nice farm-house was situated on the estate.

The widow owned a fine dwelling and an acre of ground, and so much and so well did the neighbors depict the value of his own property, its location, etc., that the widow, who is also the mother of two young daughters, was induced to give her land and dwelling and three hundred dollars in addition for the forty acre farm in Wisconsin. She had about two hundred dollars left, and determined to move to her new home. Turner, who is a single man, resided near by, and he was induced to come West with the widow to attend the farm as a hired man. The party and their goods eventually reached their destination, and they found what others in their place had often found before, that the speculator was a base and scheming villain. The land was miles from any town, part of it water and the rest shore and sand-banks, with no house upon it—in fact, the location itself was not found until nearly all the widow's means were exhausted, stopping at a village some twelve miles away. The climate did not agree with the party, every one soon fell sick, and while in this state the funds were exhausted and all were removed to the county poor-house. After two months of suffering, Turner felt able to bear the journey, and his expenses were paid to Detroit. The widow and her children, worth, five or six months ago, at least $3,000, are to-day inmates of that county poor-house, all sick, and the woman nearly dying from the manifold troubles which hem her in.

The above was gleaned from Turner while he was waiting for the ferry-boat. He had just seventy cents in his pocket, was looking more like a corpse than a living human being, and expected to walk every mile of the way from Windsor to Rochester. His story was here told to some kind hearted sailors and idlers, and the man was detained until a collection could be taken up, when he was presented with some five dollars, crying like a child as the money was placed in his hand and telling proudly, through his tears and sobs, that he had never accepted the hand of charity before. There is no doubt that the story is true.

Seasonable scold—Shut that door.

There are some entertaining people in the world, but the loafer is not one of them.

Enterprise Headquarters will try to please old and young during the holidays.

Prime cheese, tea cakes and crackers, always on hand at the Red Front.

Deputy Sheriff Boyer, of Perry county, was waylaid, wounded and robbed of $107.

A Temple of Honor is to be organized in this place to-morrow, Wednesday, evening.

The palatial mansion built this summer by S. T. Brown, Esq., is the subject of universal praise.

New invention—the endless match. We shall hereafter expect to hear of never-waning honeymoons.

Twenty-five new and improved cars have been turned out at the Penna. Railroad shops in Altoona.

The city-zens of Altoona are ruffled on the water question. Many of them are disposed to waive it.

The junior of the Altoona Tribune was on a deer hunt. He describes the hunt, but nothing about the deer.

Hollidaysburg has had a fire. A frame building occupied as a variety store, was burned to the ground.

Velocipede trunks are the latest. They are said to be specially adapted to runaway couples of love-sick swains.

The people of Altoona still 'go in' for fairs; that is, the girls get up the fairs and the boys put down the stamps.

There are 454,355 Free and Accepted Masons in the different States and Territories, and in the British Possessions.

Another cave has been discovered in Mifflin county, near Belleville. What a good county that would be for "guerrillas."

Murdoch's reading for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association was a partial success, financially considered.

Cremer complains that he had no luck in our Enterprise—he has had better luck in the Guerrilla enterprise, a fat take of $1500.

An immense stock of Toys, Confectionery, and Fancy Articles, is now being received at Red Front Grocery for the Holiday season.

A boy named Hertzler, of Port Royal, Perry county, was struck by a locomotive, recently, thrown against a stone wall, and badly bruised.

Messrs. J. K. Neff and P. C. Vandevander of Williamsburg, Blair county, while sleeping in a hotel at Rome, Ga., were robbed—the latter of about $1,500.

Red Front Grocery is getting ready for the holidays. Everything of the best will be kept constantly on hand and sold at reasonable prices.

Senator Scott and family left the ancient borough on Friday last to take up a six months' residence in "the city of magnificent distances"—Washington.

Maggie Campbell, a domestic, in Altoona, gave birth to a child and threw it into a cess pool, for which act Maggie is now repenting in jail. Alas, for human frailty.

A new lodge of Good Templars was recently organized in the Union School House in Henderson township, this county. It meets on Friday evening. We hope it will prosper.

Our Band—the Huntingdon Silver Cornet—was out serenading on Saturday evening last. We are happy to state it still lives, and is composed of as live musicians as ever.

The velocipede has had its day, and the next thing out in the balancing way is Tallman's Self-balancing Inkstand, which is for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

A noble horse belonging to Mr. May of Renovo, was recently stolen from him, and being let loose by the thief was run over by the cars and had its hind feet taken off.

The coal-oil merchants of Mifflin have resolved not to sell that dangerous commodity after candle light. What a good thing it would be if the "benzine" dealers would do likewise.

The census-makers will soon be around. What a happy time they will have asking that blushing maiden her age, or that matronal matron how many little heads she combs.

Everybody says Money is tight. We should just like to know the last one who saw him take a drop. He must have "gone up" in the Wall street bubble, as he hasn't been loose since.

Jails, with "modern improvements" that can't be beaten, are the latest novelty in our State. We wish our somebodys—we don't know who—could see them, so that we could get one like them.

Altoona has a "Cheap John" who is inaugurating the winter campaign by giving away twenty-five sacks of good flour to the same number of needy and deserving widows of that city. He ought to prosper.

Josh Billings defines a "thurrer bread bizness man" as "wun that knows enuff about steeling so that there kant anybody steel from him, and enough about law so that he can do his own steeling legally.

Some drunken wretches in Altoona recently tried to hang a drunken printer just for a joke. Fortunately a passer-by slashed the rope off before the reasonless men could carry out the "joke" to a painful reality.

Some mean tobacco-chewer, who lives in Pottsville, spit on a lady's dress. The father of the lady offers $200 to know the man who did it, and $50 additional for the arrest of any chewer who spits on any other lady's dress.

The planing mill of the Penna. Railroad Company at Altoona was destroyed by fire communicated by a red hot stove, on Tuesday night a week last. The contiguous buildings were saved. Loss in machinery, &c., estimated at $25,000.

Many of our exchanges came to us last week giving publicity to the story entitled "The Broken Home." It was all for 'ads,' we suppose, or else some editors, had they been within reach of their readers, would have had broken noses.

We don't want to scare the ladies, but indeed some villains there are who will get under other people's beds. A Mr. Rhodes, in Altoona, found one of them under his bed, as he was about retiring, hauled him out, led him down stairs and kicked him out.

People who are resolved always to please, at all events, frequently overshoot the mark. A lady of this sort, going to a friend's house, one morning, ran to the cradle, as soon as she came in, to see the fine 'boy.' Unfortunately the cat was occupying the baby's place, but before she could discover her mistake, she exclaimed, with uplifted hands, "Oh, what a sweet child; the very picture of its father."

A western town has a new society, formed by the young ladies, the object being to redeem young men whose habits do not suit them. They pledge themselves not to receive the attention of any young man that swears, smokes, chews, loafs on the street corners, or drinks. The amount of "sitting up with the girls" done in that region since the society went into operation is "nothing worth speaking of." An agitation in favor of "suspending the rules" for two evenings a week is expected.

☞ If you want a bargain go to Henry & Co's.

Another Sensation.

A recent issue of the Blair County Radical has the following bit of sensation: Huntingdon county has a first-class sensation sufficient to found a twenty-five cent novel. Some years ago a young man engaged to a lady there, went to California; his intended waited for him, but he tarried amid the golden sands; another fellow wooed and won her; the party having the first lien returned the other day and demanded an explanation; the husband plead the statute of limitations; the first fellow put in a replication in the shape of pistols or rifles; the lady yearned for her first love and fled with him to the mountain and between two days went to the nearest station, took stage and fled. Enoch Arden with a slight variation.

☞ The prettiest thing out—those Arab Nubias at Henry & Co's.

Another Murder on Broad Top.

The Bedford County Press says: A man whose name we were not able to learn, living near Dudley, in the Broad Top region, inhumanly murdered his son on last Thursday evening. He had been on a spree, and returning home in the evening, fell to abusing his wife. The son interfered, and put the old man out of the house, but he regained admittance, and on entering struck the boy, knocking him down, and immediately setting upon him with a stone, beat his brains out He was arrested and taken to Huntingdon on Friday.

[The alleged murderer has not put in an appearance at Huntingdon, nor in the jail, either, as we know of.—ED. GLOBE]

☞ Henry & Co. have the finest lot of Dress Goods in town

A Swindle.

A company in New York under the name of Noyes & Co, have sent some circulars to this place, in which they tell the receiver that if he gives them fifteen dollars in genuine money they will send him one hundred dollars in well-executed counterfeits, and thereby make a speculation. We don't think any of the persons who received such circulars were foolish enough to invest; but if any have we would caution them against circulating such money, as they will surely be detected and find themselves eking out a miserable allotment in the Western Penitentiary. A good rule for unsuspecting people is to never be trapped in anything which offers an outrageous percentage—for in it there is fraud.

☞ Henry & Co. have the nicest lot of Ladies' Shoes in Pennsylvania.

War of Races.

A party of white boys assaulted a party of black boys near the colored children's school house in West Huntingdon, on Wednesday last, when the latter retaliated, and stones and other missiles flew thick and fast. A white boy was struck above the eye with a stone, when his comrades rallied and put the colored boys to flight. If these proceedings are permitted to continue without the officers of the law taking the perpetrators in hand, the safety of the community is in jeopardy, and indulgent parents will be brought to sorrow.

Fire at Dudley.

The Catholic church near Dudley, this county, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday last. The loss is estimated at over $7000 Insured $5000.

The pastoral residence, adjoining the church, was saved only by almost super-human efforts, but the furniture therein was damaged to a very considerable extent. The latter was insured at the agency of G. B. Armitage, who was early on the ground to adjust the loss. We have not learned how the fire originated.

A Handsome Present.

Almost everybody has a "sweet tooth, and so thought Messrs. Summers & Reilly, Candy Manufacturers of our town, when they sent us, one day last week, a basket large enough to hold a Christmas turkey, and which was made of beautifully striped and twisted candy. The basket is a good specimen of the endless variety of candies that can be made by the firm—from the most exquisite bon-bons to the common mint-stick. The donors have our thanks.

Teachers' Institute.

THE HUNTINGDON COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE for the present year, will be held in the Court House, in Huntingdon, commencing on MONDAY, DECEMBER 20TH, at two o'clock, P. M., and closing FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24TH.

The Teachers, School Directors and Friends of Education are respectfully invited to attend.

Prof. S. G. BOYD, Superintendent of York county, will be present nearly all the time; and give instruction in Arithmetic, Geography, &c.

Prof. EDWARD BROOKS, Principal of the Millersville State Normal School, will lecture on different subjects during the two days and evenings he has consented to be with us.

Mrs R. H. SHOEMAKER, Teacher of Elocution in Philadelphia, will give instruction in Reading and Elocution, and will give one or two evening entertainments.

It is expected that the Principal, Teachers and a portion of the pupils of the Cassville Orphans' School will again aid and cheer us by their presence and assistance.

The Officers and the Committee on Permanent Certificates will be elected on Monday afternoon.

On Monday evening the following Topics will be discussed:

1st. How can the grade of our schools be advanced?

2d. Would a law compelling children to attend school be beneficial?

Mr. MICHINER of Porter, J. R. BAKER of Springfield, and SHEEDER of Franklin, are requested to open the first topic; and Mr. TAYLOR of Huntingdon, CALDWELL of Morris, and SHOCK of West, are requested to open the second.

Thursday will be Directors' day.—The following topics will be discussed:

1st. Should salaries be uniform in each district? If not in what way should they be graded?

2d. Can graded Schools be established in rural districts to a good advantage?

3d. Is it desirable to have legislation compelling the schools to be kept open six months in the year?

Directors CREMER of Huntingdon and EWING of Franklin, are requested to open the first Topic; Directors WEAVER of Huntingdon, GRATIUS of Porter, and BIGHAM of Shirley, are requested to open the second; and Directors WINTRODE of Penn, ROBB of Walker, and BAUMAN of Mapleton, the third.

It is expected that several Essays will be read by teachers during the sessions of the Institute.

Teachers, we most earnestly ask your co-operation in making our Institute a successful one.

School Directors of Huntingdon county, we ask you to use your influence to have the teachers in your employ attend. Many of you have already proved yourselves warm friends of the County Institute; and though some of you think that granting the teachers time to attend is robbing the children, yet either you or the leading educational men in the State are mistaken in this matter. It is only those who can appreciate the difference between right and wrong teaching—only those who are permitted to see the rich fruits of the former and the blighting influence of the latter—who can rightly estimate the work done by the County Institute.

It would baffle the arithmetician's skill to compute the loss sustained by the children of this county through wrong systems of instruction. It was to afford some remedy for this wide-spread evil; it was to present to the minds of young and inexperienced teachers who are often anxious to engage in the business of teaching without any special preparation, some conception of the great and responsible work in which they are engaged, and to arouse a general interest in the cause of education, that the County Institute was established by law.

We ask you then as friends and guardians of the Common Schools to grant your Teachers the time, and urge them, if necessary, to come; for if you have any that need urging, they are the ones that most need to be present.

Teachers, on their arrival in town, will report immediately at the Court House, have their names enrolled, and receive tickets. All teachers, and all who are preparing to teach, will receive tickets and be regarded as members of the Institute, on entering their names on the roll.

Boarding can be obtained at the hotels for $1.00 per day.

☞ Go to Henry & Co's for good Calico at 12½ cents.

☞ Bohner and Bordenbourg, the Peighital murderers, are still objects of special interest and the jail is daily thronged by persons desirous to get a sight of them. They have become reticent and taciturn, and deny that they are the murderers. But their guilt has already been too clearly fastened upon them to admit of a doubt.

Grand Ball.

A grand Citizens' Dress Ball will be given in Yonter's Hall, on Christmas eve, Friday, December 24th. The arrangements for this entertainment are being made by our enterprising citizens, Messrs. Summers & Reilly, and they will leave nothing undone to make the Ball a grand affair.

Tallman's Self Balancing Inkstand.

Attention is respectfully solicited to the following description of the above article which is at this time the theme of conversation among those who have had an opportunity of seeing it and judging of its merits.

It is the only inkstand in the world that can be upset, rolled over, jarred, tilted, or meet with a violent concussion, without spilling a particle of ink or injuring the stand! It is entirely new, and is a most ingenious combination of all the qualities desirable in an Inkstand, among which are convenience, adaptability, economy, neatness, ornament, simplicity and durability. It is a combined inkstand, pen-rack, calendar and pen-wiper, and is perfectly adapted to all these different uses, occupying no more space than the common inkstand. As an Inkstand, it is vastly superior to any other in the world! As a pen-rack, it is elegant. As a calendar it is perpetual and unerring. As a pen-wiper, it is neat and convenient. It saves vastly more than its cost in carpets, clothing, papers, books, tables, etc., all of which often suffer greatly from ink-stains caused by accident to the common inkstands. They are used by all classes, private and public.

This beautiful and useful article can be had at LEWIS' Book Store. Price, $2,00. tf.

Housekeepers' Recipes.

We take the following from Mrs. Hunnibee's diary in the Hearth and Home:

The Hair.—The hair, like the nails and cuticle, is the product of the vital vegetative system, and grows even after death. Its coloring matter is supposed to be sulphur and carbon—the former giving auburn, golden, and chestnut tints, and the latter the darker shades. Any concentration on the great vital centres, as intense study, great grief, or excessive fright, withdraws the vegeto-vital force from the surfaces and produces gray hair. It is also caused by too great warmth and protection of the head. The French and Italian women, who spend much time in the open air with no coverings on their heads, have heavy suits of moist, beautiful hair. I would recommend to this lady to wash her head every week in salt water, which will stop its falling out, and rub the skin of the head with a dry, coarse towel. Then apply a dressing composed of equal parts of bay-rum and sweet oil, in which a few drops of tincture of cantharides have been mingled. This will stimulate the skin, and restore her hair to its original color.—Frequent brushing of the scalp will help.

Tooth Powder.—Two ounces of prepared chalk, half an ounce pulverized borax, the same of orris-root pulverized, and quarter of an ounce of cassia powder.

Candles.—Allow one pound of alum for every five pounds of tallow, dissolve it in water, and then put in the tallow and stir it till they are both melted together.

Chapped Hands.—In half a pint of boiling water dissolve a pound of white soap cut in shavings, and add six ounces of olive oil and one drachm of pulverized camphor, then pour it into moulds.

How Shall we Keep our Fowls?

This is a question which concerns thousands at this season. A supply of fresh eggs is a great addition to our kitchen economy, and a most agreeable one to our table. Fresh egs for breakfast all the year round is decidedly Utopian. In the first place, we must provide light and air. Windows are absolutely necessary on the south side of the hennery, so that the winter's sun can be made available for warmth. All the scraps and soap-grease of the kitchen can be returned to us in the shape of fresh eggs, and will greatly lessen the expense of feeding the hens. They must have animal food. When the ground is open, and worms abundant, they are as well supplied as though they dined on roast-beef and mutton, but in winter it must be given to them. All the bones left from the table, the bits of fat, the scrapings of the plates, etc., should be treasured for their use. Keep an old kettle on the back of the stove, turn all slops into it, even coffee-grounds, and when well-heated, feed it. At noon-time, it can be given smoking hot, and quite watery—the warm drink helps to supply the carbon they need. Where beef's liver can be cheaply obtained, it makes excellent food; chop it fine, and they will eat it greedily. Keep a box filled with gravel, ashes, old plaster, slacked lime or oyster-shells—even hard-coal ashes will not come amiss—for hens must have food needful to form egg-shells, else they will drop them shell-less.

For grain, we think a mixture is the most profitable. Sweepings from the grist-mill do very well—oats, corn and rye ground together coarsely, make good food. Hens desire variety—will not lay eggs on one kind of nutriment.

Where oil-cake and scrap-cakes can be purchased, they are the most desirable food. Bone-manure is excellent to go with the scraps. To this diet add coarse corn-hominy, and you will never complain that hens are not worth their feed.

Cleanliness is all-important—the hen house should be whitewashed with hot lime, spring and fall, and the poles on which they roost should be covered with kerosene-oil every month or two. These precautions are needful to destroy the insects which will breed in such places. Pure warm water in iron basins, with a bit of brimstone in the basin, should be given every morning, but not allowed to freeze. If the chickens are sick, give them soap-pills made of yellow bar-soap; this acts like a cathartic. If chilled, give pepper-corns—two of them if the chickens are large—or hot milk and pepper can be turned down the neck with a teaspoon.

A hen increases in the amount of eggs she lays until four years old; then she is only fit for chicken-broth.

We would not enter into a discussion upon the merits of different breeds nor would we pay twelve dollars a pair for "novelties." The white Leghorns are our favorites; their eggs are large, their chickens grow rapidly, and their flesh is tender and of delicious flavor.

The Brahma Pootras are good-sized fowls, and produce fine coffee-colored eggs; but we confess to a greater delight in the purely white eggs, and think that what the chicken gains in size, it loses in delicacy of flavor. They have mixed with our Leghorns, and formed a mongrel breed which seems to promise well. We have forty-five chickens ready for dripping-pan or pie, which have sprung from the different breeds, and are of good size. It is more profitable to keep a dozen hens than one pig—the outlay is much less, the income much greater, and, the pleasure you take in the former is inexhaustible. What pride we take in sending a dozen fresh eggs to our kind neighbors in the depth of winter!—What a relish they give to every meal! Try it, friend, and see how cheaply pleasure can be purchased.—Hearth and Home.

Lazarus & Morris'

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their usefulness. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the confident assurance that eyes tried in all cases, were to themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.
